GREEN MILLET

Green Millet also known as bajra or Pearl Millet (Pennisetum glaucum); today is an enormously important staple cereal for both sub-Saharan Africa and parts of India; and an important forage crop in the Americas. Bajra is one of the most widely grown varieties of millet. It is grown in bulk in Africa and India.

CORN

Being a good source of antioxidant carotenoids, such as lutein and zeaxanthin, yellow (or colored) corn may promote eye health. It is also a rich source of many vitamins and minerals. For this reason, moderate consumption of whole-grain corn, such as popcorn or sweet corn, may well fit into a healthy diet.

SPICES

At the end of the day, cinnamon is one of the most delicious and healthiest spices on the planet. It can lower blood sugar levels, reduce heart disease risk factors and has a plethora of other impressive health benefits. Just make sure to get Ceylon cinnamon or stick to small doses if you're using the Cassia variety.

Possible health benefits include relieving nausea, loss of appetite, motion sickness, and pain. The root or underground stem (rhizome) of the ginger plant can be consumed fresh, powdered, dried as a spice, in oil form, or as juice. Ginger is part of the Zingiberaceae family, alongside cardamom and turmeric.

Aside from pain relief, capsaicin has shown promise in weight loss by helping reduce calorie intake and shrinking fat tissue. Chili also offers these benefits: Helps Fight Inflammation - Capsaicin has antioxidant and anti-inflammatory properties, and it has shown potential for treating inflammatory diseases and cancer.

The spices that make up chaat masala are each highly nutritious and deliver nutrients such as: Minerals: Mango powder, asafoetida, and cumin are all popular ingredients in chaat masala and are also good sources of iron and calcium.

This Punjabi Garam Masala combines the floral overtones of coriander and the earthiness of cumin with a sweet mixture of cardamom and cinnamon. This masala is toasted, and when you uncup the freshly ground spices, you will revel in its rich bouquet, which more than justifies the effort.

Today, claims for the health benefits of garlic include lower blood pressure and cholesterol, an anti-inflammatory effect, a reduced risk of cancer, and a stronger immune system.

With a high concentration of capsaicin, this flavourful spice does more than pack a punch. Here are five ways chili powders benefit you. Helps with Osteoarthritis: Chili powder can act as an anti-inflammatory agent, which helps decrease swelling of sore joints and increases blood flow.

Asafoetida is used for breathing problems including ongoing (chronic) bronchitis, H1N1 "swine" flu, and asthma. It is also used for digestion problems including intestinal gas, upset stomach, irritable bowel syndrome (IBS), and irritable colon.

SPICES

Turmeric and especially its most active compound curcumin have many scientifically-proven health benefits, such as the potential to prevent heart disease, Alzheimer's and cancer. It's a potent anti-inflammatory and antioxidant and may also help improve symptoms of depression and arthritis.

Possible health benefits include relieving nausea, loss of appetite, motion sickness, and pain. The root or underground stem (rhizome) of the ginger plant can be consumed fresh, powdered, dried as a spice, in oil form, or as juice. Ginger is part of the Zingiberaceae family, alongside cardamom and turmeric.

Turmeric consists of the active ingredient Curcumin, which harbours antioxidant, anti-inflammatory, antibacterial, stomach-soothing, and liver-and heart-protecting effects. Black pepper improves digestion, relieves intestinal gas and plays the role of an antioxidant to fight cancer.

The reason behind this is that it is low in sodium and doesn't enhance the sodium level in your blood. It also relieves heartburn and intestinal gas. In short, it boosts your overall digestive system. There are several other skin, health, and hair benefits of black salt.

Amchoor or aamchur, also referred to as mango powder, is a fruity spice powder made from dried unripe green mangoes and is used as a citrusy seasoning. It is produced in India, and is used to flavor foods and add the nutritional benefits of mangoes when the fresh fruit is out of season.

White pepper works best for those suffering from loss of appetite as it enhances appetite and promotes healthy gut. The spice helps to get rid of secretions from airways. It is also used to treat constipation as it supports large intestine peristalsis and accelerates metabolism. It has anti-inflammatory effect and also freshens breath.

ambhar powder is a spice blend used throughout India, especially the southern states. As the name suggests it is used to make Sambhar, a broth made with vegetables and cooked lentils flavoured with tamarind pulp and sambhar powder. It is eaten with rice or snacks like dosa, idli and vada.

Onion powder is made from dehydrated onions, giving it a concentrated flavor that pairs well with many foods. Using onion powder when cooking offers health benefits because it contains some nutrients, but in small amounts, meaning you can't rely on it to meet your daily recommended totals. Look for onion powder in the spice aisle of your supermarket and be careful not to confuse it with onion salt.

TURMERIC POWDER

Turmeric and especially its most active compound curcumin have many scientifically-proven health benefits, such as the potential to prevent heart disease, Alzheimer's and cancer. It's a potent anti-inflammatory and antioxidant and may also help improve symptoms of depression and arthritis.

CORIANDER POWDER

Coriander has multiple health benefits. Coriander or cilantro is a wonderful source of dietary fiber, manganese, iron and magnesium as well. In addition, coriander leaves are rich in Vitamin C, Vitamin K and protein. They also contain small amounts of calcium, phosphorous, potassium, thiamin, niacin and carotene

RED CHILLI POWDER

CHANA DALIYA (BROKEN CHICKPEAS)

As a rich source of vitamins, minerals and fiber, chickpeas may offer a variety of health benefits, such as improving digestion, aiding weight management and reducing the risk of several diseases. Additionally, chickpeas are high in protein and make an excellent replacement for meat in vegetarian and vegan diets.

CTC TEA

Ronazz CTC tea is also known to have immense health benefits. Helps to Fight Cancer – Assam CTC tea is one of the finest blends that has antioxidants that helps to kill cancer-causing cells without damaging the surrounding cells. It also keeps you hydrated and moisturized and prevents cancer.

Crush, tear, curl (sometimes cut, tear, curl) is a method of processing black tea in which the leaves are passed through a series of cylindrical rollers with hundreds of sharp teeth that crush, tear, and curl the tea into small, hard pellets. ... Tea produced using this method is generally called CTC tea or mamri tea.

ORTHODOX TEA

Ronazz Orthodox Teas are whole leaf teas manufactured using the traditional process of making tea. CTC Teas are made through the Crush, Tear, and Curl (CTC) process of manufacture producing a granular leaf particle. ... When cupping, orthodox teas are generally bright and brisk and have a multilayered flavor profile.

It is high in Antioxidants as compared to CTC which loses its antioxidant quality comparatively due to machine processing. Antioxidants help to neutralize damaged cells which help us to look and feel better. Loose leaf Tea has been shown to have a calming effect on the body and especially helps boost mental clarity.
